With triple digit temps and high heat indices affecting the area this week

Take extra precautions to prevent heat-related illnesses and deaths

With temperatures in the triple digits and high heat indices predicted this week, the Alabama Department of Public Health (ADPH) advises the public to be alert to the warning signs of heat illnesses.

Heat-related illnesses occur when the body is exposed to high temperatures and high humidity. According to the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC), people who are highest risk of heat illnesses include people ages 65 and older, children younger than 2, and people with chronic diseases or mental illness. Other who are disproportionately affected include athletes, outdoor workers, and people in low-income households.

Anyone exposed to high temperatures or extreme heat, however, can experience symptoms when the body's temperature control system is overloaded.

"Dangerous heat is expected this week through the last weekend of August. The most persistent, dangerous heat is expected over southeast Alabama and the Florida Panhandle, where temperatures will reach or exceed 100 degrees," said Grant Lyons, deputy director for the Coffee County EMA office. "Heat Index values could require the issuance of heat advisories into this weekend, and an eventual excessive heat warning is possible."

Taking this into consideration, officials urge the public to stay cool, stay hydrated and stay informed. The most common heat-related illnesses are as follows:

- Heat cramps
- Heat exhaustion
- Heat stroke

Heat cramps – include muscle pains or spasms

(abdomen, arms or legs), profuse sweat, and high salt concentration in the sweat.

Heat exhaustion – is associated with heavy sweating, paleness, muscle cramps, tiredness, weakness, dizziness, headache, nausea, or vomiting and fainting. Other possible symptoms may include cool and moist skin, fast and weak pulse rate, fast and shallow breathing, or irritability. Older adults, those with high blood pressure, and those working or exercising in a hot environment are prone to heat exhaustion. If heat exhaustion is not treated, it may progress to heatstroke. Heat stroke or sun stroke – the most serious heat-related illness, a life-threatening problem, may occur when

THE WIREGRASS WOLVERINES semi-pro football team, based in Elba, came up just a bit short in claiming a win last Saturday night when the Wolverines dropped a 28-26 decision to the Savannah Raiders from Georgia. It was an exciting game from start to finish that was not decided until the final seconds ticked off the clock. Above, Elba own Richmon Singletary scampers for a big gain late in the game for the Wolverines. This Saturday, Aug. 26, the Wolverines will play their last regular home game for the season at Foggy Bottom Stadium in downtown Elba when they host the league's #1 ranked Cherokee County Bruins. Kickoff for this game is 7 p.m.

Superintendent said interviews taking place for new assistant principal for Elba schools

During the Elba Board of Education meeting held Tuesday evening, Aug. 15, Superintendent Chris

Moseley said the school system still had two vacancies to fill for the school year, but he said he was hopeful recommendations for those spots would come soon.

The two open positions are for an assistant principal for the schools and an aide spot at the elementary school. Moseley said he wanted those conducting the interviews to have time to find the people they feel 'best fit the slots' before making recommendations for hire.

With that said, however, he indicated he might possibly reach out to the board to call a special meeting prior to the September regular meeting to fill the two vacancies.

"Both positions have been advertised and they are working diligently to get those interviews done," Moseley said.

He said when it is time to make recommendations to

BRAINSTORMS

With Ferrin Cox

“Human beings, who are almost unique in having the ability to learn from the experience of others, are also remarkable for their apparent disinclination to do so.” – Douglas Adams

Vivek Ramaswamy, one of many Republican candidates for president, is gaining in the popularity totals according to recent polls. However, if a person listens to some of his comments they will probably look around and ask, “Did he just say THAT?” One of the comments that has apparently caused him lots of flack is, “But if he doesn’t show up on that debate stage, that will be the best proof that the Donald Trump of today is not the same Donald Trump as in 2016.” By Sunday he had modified that comment to “it is alright if he misses the first few debates.” A newcomer to politics he is discovering that it is a career where the candidates are prone to, ‘open mouth and insert foot’, only to be forced to retract the comments after a huge public outcry.

A brand name chain of businesses reportedly made the offer of $1,000 to someone to be a “taste taster”. The deal included an additional $250 to purchase snack items at any of their stores and report back to the company on their like or dislike of the various snacks. The short news blip on some social media site didn’t report exactly how many people volunteered to take the money for tasting the snacks. In another short clip it was reported that 10,000 people volunteered to change their name to “Subway” to gain a “free pizza for life card”. We assume both of these deals were on the up-and-up but would sure hate to officially change our name even for an offer of that much food and then find out it was a sham.

Elba utility crews did a bit of system upgrade or something in the downtown area one afternoon last week, on into dark-time. Sometime after dark they cut the lights for a few minutes along Claxton Avenue. Just as we grabbed a half gallon of ice cream from the freezer, the lights went out! We really wanted a cup as we were hot, hot, hot - so what to do? Quickly deciding we had eaten enough ice cream in our life to know the mechanics of eating the stuff without the aid of light, we fumbled around for a cup and spoon and - success, we had a cup of cold, cold ice cream, without the aid of the lights. About the time the cup of cream was finished the lights came back on and we resumed our book reading - with our craving for the ice cream fully satisfied.

The courts are the battleground for laws dealing with puberty blockers and hormones to treat transgender children. We don’t come near to understanding all the ups and downs dealing with this issue but do have an opinion. We think making permanent physical changes dealing with the sexuality of minors is premature. They are still children and who knows what their opinions will be as adults. Therefore, we lean to waiting until they are adults and let them make the decision AS ADULTS. Of course there are lots of issues these children will be dealing with until that time and they need AND DESERVE the love, compassion and support of their family and friends during these trying times.

Being a positive influence on others in the community

Elba High School varsity football players Lakendrick Jordan, senior, and Cayden Adkins, junior, left football practice one recent evening and made a stop at Foggy Bottom stadium where rec league practices were underway. The purpose of the stop, according to Greg Adkins, was to drop something off.

They could have just dropped off the item and left, but instead, Cayden and Lakendrick stayed to help with football practice for the little league Tigers. It wasn’t planned...it just happened.

Fortunately, someone caught this special time on camera by snapping a few photos (as shown to the right). This is a great example of being a positive influence on others in the community. The youngsters most likely will never forget the day these two stayed at their practice to help teach them the fundamentals of the game. What a prime example of “Tiger Pride” and caring for others!

Cuzin Lou Lou's Tales from Yonder

Editor's Note: Cuzin Lou Lou's tales are to be enjoyed as a light-hearted form of Southern expression

As promised to Little Bean, Cuzin Lou Lou got ‘caught up’ on those extra projects she was working on last week, and the cuddles resumed!

So, Bean once again is a happy baby because she gets to relax on the couch and play with her mommy instead of lying in her doggie bed longing for that computer work to end. Sister says it is unreal how attached to Lou Lou the little monster can be at times, but Lou Lou isn’t complaining one bit!

Lou Lou did get a big ‘ole eye roll out of Sister over the weekend while the two were taking care of a little grocery shopping.

They had ventured down the ‘chip isle’ to grab some chips for Papa because, as it has been revealed, that man loves to snack.

When Lou Lou grabbed the bag of chips, she declared, “These are for Papa! He needs his own bag because he ate mine and Bean’s Munchos this week.”

That statement received a suspicious look from Sister.

“Bean enjoys a Muncho every now and again, so, I try to keep them on hand!”

Sister wasn’t buying it. She insisted the true story was that Lou Lou enjoys the Munchos “every now and again” and Bean wants some of whatever her mommy his eating.

Well...that might be true, but Bean does like them. So, Lou Lou likes to keep some on hand for a little treat now and again.

Lou Lou doesn’t let Bean eat too many at one time because she is supposed to be on a diet, but one every now and again doesn’t hurt! At least that is Lou Lou’s story and she is sticking with it!

“Uh huh,” was Sister’s only response.

As if that wasn’t a big enough eye rolling revelation for Sister, it got even better at home a short while later.

Lou Lou admittedly has a bad habit of chewing ice. It began as a side effect of being anemic and has just blossomed into a full-blown habit now.

Turns out Little Bean also has likes to chew on a piece of ice too!

When Sister walked into the room just in time to witness Lou Lou handing Bean a piece of ice, that really got her going!

“I cannot believe she is chewing ice with you!” Sister exclaimed as those eyes rolled. “I have seen it all now!”

Lou Lou just shrugged!

The only problem Lou Lou has found with this new habit is the little monster has become quite demanding for the ice! Every time she hears ice rattle in a cup, she turns those longing eyes toward Lou Lou waiting to be rewarded with piece. This means Lou Lou can barely enjoy the ice herself now for having to supply it to the monster.

All the while, Sister just shakes her head and insists it is unbelievable! Oh well! Until next time...God Bless and Keep Smiling!

It's HOT Out There! Keep that A/C cooling!!

occur when the body is unable to control its temperature. Body temperature may rise to 106 degrees F or higher within 10 -15 minutes. Signs include an extremely high body temperature, red, hot and dry or moist skin, rapid, strong pulse, throbbing headache, dizziness, nausea, dehydration, combativeness or confusion, and unconsciousness. Heat stroke is a medical emergency and even with immediate treatment, it can be life-threatening or cause serious long-term problems. Recommendations are that people drink plenty of fluids except alcohol or caffeinated beverages to prevent dehydration, stay in an air-conditioned room, keep out of the sun by seeking shelter, wear a wide-brimmed hat, light-colored and loose-fitting clothing, use sunscreen of SPF 15 or higher, take cool showers or baths, and reduce or eliminate strenuous activities during the hottest times of the day. NEVER leave people or pets in a parked vehicle. Persons with heart disease, diabetes, obesity, poor circulation, or previous stroke problems, people of older and younger ages, and those taking certain medications are at greater risk of becoming ill in hot weather. For more information, visit or <https://www.alabamapublichealth.gov/> or <https://www.alabamapublichealth.gov/injury-prevention/index.html>

Additionally, Lyons said the week ahead will be rain-free in most places. It will take until Sunday, Aug. 27, to see more normal summertime rain chances start to return.

"In combination with near-record heat, wildland fuels will rapidly dry out, and live fuels will become stressed," he said. "Fire danger will increase. Wildfires that develop will show active fire behavior with possible control problems."

"We are probably looking at taking a teacher away from another school system, especially with the assistant principal, so when the time comes, I'd like to get the ball rolling to get them in place here as soon as we can," Moseley said.

If the new assistant principal comes to Elba from other school system, the superintendent said he would work with the other system to make that transition as quick and smooth as possible for both systems.

Also, during the meeting, board members approved a budget amendment. Chief Financial Officer Valiece McKelvy said this was simply to budget carryover funds from Fiscal Year 2022. She said these mostly dealt with federal dollars.

Our Family Serving Your Family Since 1934

How are Grief/Mourning Different When a Loved One with Alzheimer's Dies?

When a loved one has Alzheimer's, grieving can begin the day you learn of the Alzheimer's diagnosis, or you may notice feelings of grief as your loved one begins to lose their memory and starts to struggle with daily tasks. As the person with Alzheimer's capacity declines, feelings of loss can become more profound. Even though you want to do everything you can to slow down the progression of the disease, there is often not much you can do. This can make you feel hopeless or out of control.

It may feel like your grief is a never-ending rollercoaster, and your feelings will likely be unpredictable. You may feel angry one day and sad the next. There will be moments of happiness in there too, and that may even cause feelings of guilt for feeling happy while a loved one continues to suffer.

After your loved one passes, you will grieve and mourn again. However, it is common for surviving spouses and family members to feel a sense of relief that their loved one is no longer suffering and that this chapter in their own lives has closed. Unfortunately, this can also lead to survivor's guilt because you feel guilty for feeling relieved. Know that these feelings are normal.

Ways to Manage Grief

Face your feelings. Instead of trying to hide from your feelings or push them aside, embrace them. Know that sadness and grief will be a part of your life and that this is ok.

Know that many people will not understand your grief. Many people think grief happens when someone dies, not when that person is still alive. So they may not realize you are grieving while your loved one is still alive.

Make sure you talk to someone and share your feelings. This may be a trusted friend or family member or even a counselor or therapist.

Take care of yourself. It may be hard to muster the energy to socialize at this time, especially as you need to spend more time caring for your loved one. Spending time with friends can help you to be a better caregiver. Try to carve out time for things you enjoy and that bring you joy.

Give yourself time to heal. It would be nice to be able to know exactly when your grief will end, but that is impossible to know. It will be a long process. Know that eventually your grief will start to subside, and you will start to feel happy.

CHURCH NEWS

A large group gathered Sunday afternoon, Aug. 20, at Elba City Schools to participate in the Prayer Walk 2023, sponsored by the Coffee County Baptist Women on Missions. This was for all denominations, and both young and old participated. At Elba, over 150 people gathered to pray over Elba Elementary and Elba High Schools (the top photo shows many of those gathered). The group came together in the EES cafeteria for an opening assembly and prayer, led by Elba First Baptist pastor Kit Johnson (right), before dividing into smaller groups to walk around each school praying for the students, teacher, administrators, etc. Similar prayer walks were held at school all across Coffee County on Sunday.

PASTOR'S CORNER

by Dwight Johnson, Pastor
Elba First Assembly of God

My wife was very proud of me last week. I was able to take some salvaged wood from a very old house that was torn down, and after lots of measuring, cutting, sanding, and finishing, give her a "new" TV table. But, the thanks should really go to Mr. Leverette.

I don't even remember Mr. Leverette's first name. He was my ninth grade Shop Class (it might have been called Vocational Education) teacher. We spent a few weeks on welding, a few on brick laying, a few on agriculture, etc. The unit that really stood out to me was carpentry.

Mr. Leverette introduced the class to some basic tools and guided us as we all built a simple gun rack. I'd like to say that carpentry became a lifelong hobby, but instead, it was more of an interest. Only in recent years have I had the opportunity to develop my interest, but the seed was planted long ago by Mr. Leverette.

The Bible has much to say about sowing and reaping; planting and harvest. There are far more scriptures than can be explored here, but I urge you to study this subject. Let me say this, however: Continue to plant your seed. Invest in someone's life; work toward your dream. Delayed results can be disappointing. We might feel that our labor was in vain, but the seed hasn't died. In time, it will germinate, and harvest will come.

Thanks, Mr. Leverette.

Of Gapers and Curiosity

Drivers in urban areas confront the frustration of heavy traffic on a daily basis. Accidents may bring traffic to a standstill until the wreckage is cleared and the injured attended to properly. Delays may be experienced not only by uninvolved drivers in the lane(s) where the accident occurred but also by drivers on the other side of the median of divided highways. Although no accident has occurred on the other side, traffic there may move slowly as well because of "gapers". These are curious drivers who slow down to catch a glimpse of the wreckage. The slowdown is known as "gapers delay" or "rubber necking." Curiosity is a double-edged sword. On the positive side, curiosity leads to new inventions that make life better. Negatively, curiosity creates literal and figurative gapers' delay; and fascination with the macabre can lead to further tragedy. We all can give examples of times when "curiosity killed the cat" proved to be true in one sense or another. Curiosity proved to be a positive thing for Zacchaeus, who wanted to see Jesus (Luke 19). Herod also wanted to see Jesus (Luke 23: 8,9), but the outcome was negative because of his motives. Curiosity could have resulted in death for the Israelites at Mount Sinai. They were not to be gapers of God's glory. The double-edged sword of curiosity should cause us to examine ourselves. What things should we not be curious about? See Timothy 1: 3-7, etc. - C.R.B.

The Pressbox

By Ricky Mularz, Sports Editor

Our youngest grandson Cannon celebrated his first birthday last week and his parents began what they said would be an annual event as they took him to IHOP for breakfast, visited both sets of grandparents and then let him play at an indoor playground. I'm sure Cannon had a blast and had a good nap late in the afternoon, as did his parents. I told them the fun is just starting!

For what it is worth....

 The Elba Tigers have been chomping at the bits ever since being upset in the second round of the playoffs last year to get back on the field, and they will get their chance Friday night when they welcome the New Brockton Gamecocks over for a season opening battle on the lush turf on Mack Wood Field. The Tigers have been in the news all over the state and are ranked #2 in the preseason 1A polls after last season's 11-1 record. However, games are played on the field and not in the papers, or the internet, and the Tigers will have to prove on the field just how good they are. I know the Elba roster is filled with talent and admit I am as excited as anyone about the upcoming season, but this year's team is a new edition of the Elba Tigers that has proven nothing yet, and will begin writing the latest chapter of their story Friday night.

 All the teams in the area will kick off their seasons this week and it looks like an interesting week of action for the players, coaches, and fans.

Zion Chapel will open the season against former AISA power Pike Liberal Arts, and has to be excited about the opportunity to open the season at home with what appears to be a solid chance to open the season with a win. The Rebels have won a total of only five games over the last three years, but believe they can sneak up on some folks, and if they stay healthy they just may be right as they continue the rebuilding process.

Brantley will host county-rival Luverne in its opener and after making it deep in the playoffs for the past several years are determined to add a blue trophy to their already crowded trophy case. The Bulldogs are always physical up front and loaded with skill players, and this season will be no different as they cement their 1A dominance. Everyone dressed in green and while, from the players to the coaches, and even the fans, expect to win every time they take the field, and it tells.

Kinston will be down in numbers and don't appear to have quite as many standouts as in years past, but you know Coach Rudy Free will have his players as hard-nosed and physical as any in the region, and that the Bulldogs will always play until the final horn. This year's pack of 'Dawgs look like a blue collar group that will show up for work and give the coaches their best until it's time to go home, and should be an easy team to support.

New Brockton has to have a new attitude with a new head coach and the thought here is that the Gamecocks will play with more enthusiasm and dedication that teams in recent years. While they may still not have as many athletes as other 3A teams in the region, after last season's 0-10 slate there can be no doubt they will play with a chip on their shoulders and play to win, no matter the opponent. The guess here is that better days are coming, soon.

 While on the subject of high school football, Elba fans will be happy this season that WFTZ is back on the airways and will broadcast all Elba Tiger football games live, as well as streaming the games on the internet. The radio station was off the air for almost a year after its antenna was destroyed by a storm, but owner Mike Holderfield, a former Elba Tiger from years back, never considered leaving the Elba area without a station of its own, and while the antenna was being reconstructed streamed all Elba games for fans across the area, the state and the nation. This year the games will be back live on the radio at 101.1 FM, as well as streaming at woofradio.com, and hopefully all Elba Tiger fans can follow the team throughout the season.

 Before leaving high school football, there are a number of big games on tap all across the state, and just a few that caught my eye were in 1A, #2 Elba against 3A New Brockton, #4 Brantley against 2A Luverne and #3 Pickens County against 2A #10 Aliceville; in 2A, #2 B.B. Comer against 3A Dadeville, #4 Highland Home against 3A Providence Christian, #6 Ariton against 4A Dale County and #7 Reeltown against 5A Tallassee; in 3A, #1 St. James against Montgomery Academy and #4 Mars Hill against 6A Cullman; in 4A, #1 Andalusia against Opp and #3 Montgomery Catholic against 6A McGill-Toolen; in 5A, #1 Ramsay against 6A Hueytown and #2 Charles Henderson against 3A #9 Pike County; in 6A, #1 Saraland against Lipscomb Academy, of Tennessee, and #4 Mt. Brook against 7A #6 Vestavia Hills; and, 7A, #1 Thompson against Opelika, #2 Auburn against #3 Hoover and #4 Central Phenix City against #5 Hewitt-Trussville.

 A few streaks will be on the line when the high school season kicks off, including the state's longest winning streak at 15 by Fyffe, the longest losing streak by Columbia at 71, the longest region winning streak by American Christian at 35, the longest region losing streak by Barbour County at 58, and the longest home field winning streak by Montgomery Catholic at 24. By the way, the Elba Tigers have the fourth longest home field winning streak at 17!

 I haven't had the opportunity to watch the Wiregrass Wolverines in action yet, but did get the chance to watch some action recently on the internet and was impressed with the talent the team has put together and how they play. The first thing that jumped out was that former Elba Tiger standout Richmon Singletary is just as quick and elusive as ever as a running back and no doubt should be playing in college instead of a semi-pro league. Singletary made moves that left defensive backs flat footed and at times seemed without a doubt to still be an amazing player, no matter the competition. The remainder of the team was filled with players that love football and just want to continue to play the sport they love, while they can. Oh yea, it was also easy to see how well coached the Wolverines were, and how the coaches understand just what the team is all about and what it takes to be successful.

 Auburn named Payton Thorne, a transfer from Michigan State, as the Tigers starting quarterback last week, and while many fans were surprised that last year's starter Robbie Ashford didn't keep his job, I think new head coach Hugh Freeze was looking for a player to run his offense that would be steady and not make mistakes. I still think Ashford is a very talented player that can cause headaches for opposing defensive coordinators, and will get plenty of playing time, but for now the new kid on the clock will get the chance to display his talents and win the hearts of Auburn fans.

 Ye Ole Polish Prognosticator sent me an email over the week with his opening week picks and made it clear that he is expecting a very exciting season for the fans of all five area teams. He did make excuses for a possible less than stellar week by listing his usual explanations about it being the opening week and how no one really knows what to expect, but give me his picks and promised to stop by next week and talk football. Okay, here we go again....

ELBA VS. NEW BROCKTON

The Pea River felines will be on their home turf Friday night for their season opener against a flock of birds that like to hang out just off the bypass over in 'Brockton, and while this one may look like a blowout on paper, the guess here is that the birds will be hungry after a lean year on the gridiron and will be dive bombing the felines every chance they get. The felines may lose a little fur, but should be too quick to avoid any direct hits.

ELBA 34 NEW BROCKTON 12

ZION CHAPEL VS. PIKE LIBERAL ARTS

The Rebels from up at Fort Jack have been loading their muskets all week in preparation for an invasion by a band of troops from just across the county line, and believe they have an ambush set that could result in a big win. While it is true the visiting army was literally run off the field last week in a preseason contest, the guess here this week will be a battle won in the trenches and that the Rebs will fall just a little short.

PIKE LIBERAL ARTS 22 ZION CHAPEL 21

KINSTON VS. SAMSON

The Bulldogs from down near the county line will make the short trip over to Geneva County for a clash against a pride of Tigers that are still hungry after not getting to enjoy a victory dinner but once all season a year ago. The 'Dawgs don't exactly fill up the pound this season and may not strike fear into their opponents, but should still be a worthy opponent and my guess here is this one will be won in the fourth quarter.

SAMSON 26 KINSTON 22

BRANTLEY VS. LUVERNE

The Bulldogs from up across the creek will get to open at home this week and no doubt will have the pound all dressed up for its annual cross-county clash against its neighbors from just up the road. While they did lose some big dogs from last year's team, the motto has always been 'next man up' for the guys in green, and this year should be no different.

Elba hosts 'Brockton in season opener

The Elba Tigers will kick off the 2023 high school football season Friday night when they host the New Brockton Gamecocks, at Tiger Stadium.

The Tigers own a 14-1 series edge over their cross-county rivals, have won ten straight meetings and last season posted a 40-8 victory.

Elba has posted a winning record in 16 straight seasons and over the last two years has compiled a 21-3 record under Coach Marc Sieving.

New Brockton will be under the guidance of new head coach Jason Barnett and will be looking to turn around its football fortunes after struggling to four straight losing season and an 0-10 campaign a year ago.

"New Brockton takes great pride in all its sports program and there is no doubt it has a plan to turn its football program back around," said Sieving. "It's new coach came from Citronelle and is a veteran high school coach that has brought new life into the program. The coaches over there know a win Friday night would put the rebuild on a fast track, and we know they have been hard at work all summer with that in mind. We expect a four quarter battle from a quality opponent and know we will have to play our best to win the game."

"New Brockton has a lot of players and a lot of experience," added Sieving, "and we know they will be looking forward to coming over here Friday night. We really don't know that to expect on either side of the ball, but in the spring they were in the wing-t on offense and were very big and physical on defense. We have spent some time working against the wing-t, but have also to get ready for everything else and just have to make sure we are sound in all we do. On offense we will need to play well and play fast, and move the chains. We have a lot of folks back all over the field and are confident we can move the football. However, we know New Brockton will have a plan for us and will go into the game looking to stop the run. We just have to buckle the chinstraps a little tighter and get after it."

"We have been preaching to the players to take it one day and one week at a time all summer," said Sieving, "and this is the first step. Practice has been good, the players and coaches are all excited to start the season and we are ready to go. The heat is a concern going into the game, but we have a hydration program that has been in place for a couple of years and we have certainly been making sure all the players are properly hydrated every day. You can't wait until the night of the game and drink a lot of water. It is a daily routine and we know how important it is."

When asked about summer workouts, Coach Sieving stated, "It was hot, and still is, but the players were excited all summer about the upcoming season and really worked hard to get better each and every day. On offense we are excited about the number of players that are returning. Quarterback Brayden Johnson will be a three-year starter, we return almost everyone in the offensive line, have three proven backs that have been in battles and of course have Alvin Henderson back, who without a doubt is one of the best players in the nation! Over on defense we return two starters on defense, have a rotation at nose guard and have three really good linebackers returning in Jacob Watkins, Cayden Adkins and Brayden Johnson, not to mention Kendrick Jordan, a newcomer that has the potential to be a big time player at multiple spots on both sides of the ball. The Gray brothers also return in the secondary, as does Brady Johnson. So, we do expect the defense to be battle tested and ready to go to war from the first play of the game."

"With so much experience we were able to work during the preseason more on technique and fundamentals than coverages and how to make reads," added Sieving. "We expect to have a solid pass rush and be strong against the run at the same time. We know we will have to make adjustments based on who we play and what they do, but we are confident that with our experience we can make those adjustments quickly and remain sound in all we do. In football you have to stop the run and also be able to run, and we feel confident in both areas."

"We play is a tough region and have a pair of 3A opponents on the schedule," said the fourth year Tiger coach, "and we know nothing will come easy. We are going to approach the season one game and one challenge at a time, and will work hard every day at practice to be better as a team every time we take the field."

All area teams excited about Friday night season openers

The 2023 high school football season will kick off this week for teams all across the state and for area teams the opening week of action will include the renewal of two long time rivalries and a first-ever meeting between two teams that should grow into a natural rivalry.

Following is a preview of this week's season openers:

Pike Lib at Zion Chapel

Two schools separated by less than twenty miles will tangle Friday night at Green Memorial Stadium, in Jack, when the Zion Chapel Rebels host the Pike Liberal Arts Patriots, in the first meeting ever between the two teams on the gridiron.

Zion Chapel has struggled to three straight losing seasons and posted a 5-25 record during the three-year span, while Pike Lib, coached by veteran William Moguel, struggled to a 3-6 record last season in its first year in the AHSAA after rolling up a 22-3 record the previous three years in AISA.

Luverne at Brantley

The Brantley Bulldogs will kick off the season in the friendly confines of David Lowery Stadium on Frida night when they host the Luverne Tigers, in the 90th meeting between the two county rivals.

Brantley has won the last two meetings, including a 31-7 victory a year ago, and has been a power in the 1A ranks over the past four seasons in rolling to a 46-7 record. Luverne has posted eight straight winning seasons, will be coming off a 6-5 slate, and will be under the direction of former Elba head coach Ed Rigby.

Kinston at Samson

Two rivals looking to bounce back after disappointing seasons a year ago will meet at Samson when the Kinston Bulldogs battle the Samson

Tigers for the 42nd time on the gridiron.

Kinston has won the last two meetings, including a 34-12 victory a year ago, and have won a total of 12 games over the past two seasons after winning only five games the previous two years. Samson struggled to a 1-9 record last season after moving up to the 2A ranks, after winning a total of 13 games the previous two years.

Other area games this week include:

(Thursday)
Carroll at Dothan
Andalusia at Opp
(Friday)
Eufaula at Enterprise
Geneva at Headland
Wilcox Central at McKenzie
Beulah at Abbeville
Houston Academy at Wicksburg
Providence Christian at Highland Home
Ariton at Dale County
Goshen at Daleville
Georgiana at W.S. Neal
Pleasant Home at A.L.

Zion Chapel Rebels looking to take next step in rebuilding program

While a 3-7 record may not seem like a reason to get excited in the world of high school football in the state of Alabama, it was without a doubt the beginning of a rebuilding process last season for the Zion Chapel Rebels and first year head coach Cody Keene after the Rebels struggled to a 2-18 record the previous two years.

"We are stronger than we were last season even though we are younger as a team," said Keene, in a recent published interview in The Dothan Eagle, "and that is a positive. We built our new identity in the weight room. We have to find an edge here at Zion Chapel and have made great strides in the areas we tried to focus on. It is the mentality of the program that must change, and here the weight room has been the biggest change."

One reason for a new excitement in the Rebels camp has been the return of quarterback Mason Stuart, who was injured in last year's season opener.

"Mason played two quarters last season before he broke his ankle and at that point in the season we had played in a jamboree and two quarters against Goshen," added Keene. "I think he had already rushed for five touchdowns, rushed for 300 or 400 yards, and passed for 150-200 yards. We didn't change the offense when he went down, and now that he is back he has become a leader and is one of our strongest players."

Other weapons on the offense include junior wide-receiver JoJo LeGear, senior running back Micah Fuller and 310-pound tackle Malachi McNeil.

"I expect JoJo to be able to make some plays for us on the edge," said Coach Keene, "and Micah is one of our fastest players and one of our strongest players. Malachi is one of our best leaders and has blossomed into a recruitable kid."

Zion Chapel will return six starters on the defensive side, led by sophomore linebacker Brayden Benbow and junior lineman Jackson Dowdy.

"At one point Brayden was the leading tackler in 2A and I think he is going to be a good football player for us, while Jackson wasn't a starter at the beginning of the season and ended up as a starter."

Other players expected to lead the way on defense are linebacker John Foster Hamm, as well as JoJo LeGear, Micah Fuller and Jackson Adcock.

Kinston Bulldogs will be small in numbers but big in heart and pride

No one should feel sorry for Coach Rudy Free and the Kinston Bulldogs just because the roster for the upcoming season only includes 18 players in grades ten through twelve, because they have already accepted the challenge and are ready to hit the field and battle for a spot in the 1A playoffs after a one-year absence.

"Yea, we have a lot of holes to fill," admitted Coach Free in a recent published interview in The Dothan Eagle. "We have graduated a total of 18 players the last two years, including ten last season, and at a place like Kinston that's a lot of folks. We dressed out 27 or 28 the past couple of seasons, including five or six ninth graders. So, we aren't really that far off, even though it's a little hard to practice 11 on 11 with only 18 bodies."

"The attitude of the team is good and they are working hard," added Free. "The last few weeks may have been the best we have had in the weight room since we have been here. It's coming along and we will face the challenge head on."

The Bulldogs will return four starters on an offense that helped lead the way to a 4-6 record last season, with Brodie Walker, a senior running back/fullback among the key returnees.

"Brodie is a hard working kid that sometimes looks like a bull in a china shop," said Free. "He plays with a lot of emotion, weighs in at 215, and is a good hard worker all the time. Last year he played linebacker and before that was in the defensive line. Now he has grasped the concept of what is expected and he is going to be a leader."

Junior Brant McCollough will move from receiver to quarterback and will turn the key for the Bulldog offense. While CJ Lunsford will be back at receiver and juniors Drew Branch and Marcus Free will return in the line.

"Brant may be a little raw at quarterback," said Free, "by the is a really good athlete and may be the fastest player in the team. CJ has improved a lot since his sophomore season and has made big strides, while Drew and Marcus have both played a good bit and have experience."

Colby Tew, a junior, will fill into the role at running back and is a player Coach Free expects big things from this season, while over on defense the trio of Brodie Walker, Marcus Free and Whit Floyd all return to anchor a hard-hitting unit.

"Those three players have learned to play linebacker and have done a really good job," added Free. Those will be three guys we are really counting on for the defense."

Marcus Free will return as the Bulldogs placekicker and Brant McCollough will handle the punting chores.

"No one we play will feel sorry for us because we only have 18 varsity players," stated Free. "So, we can't feel sorry for ourselves and just have to go out there and play hard, play smart and play Kinston Bulldog football."

New Brockton Gamecocks anxious to turn page after winless season

The New Brockton Gamecocks will enter the high school football season with a new head coach, a new determination to win and a new spirit after struggling to an 0-10 record last season.

"We have a long way to go," admitted new head coach Jason Barnett, in a recent published interview with The Dothan Eagle, "and the biggest thing is getting them to learn to compete again and have a little confidence. You could realize it back in April that the kids were hungry, and now it is a matter of them buying into what we are doing. They have done that up to this point and they want to do it."

Catching the eye of the former head coach at Citronelle on offense has been the trio of senior running back Yassiah Rousseau, sophomore wide-receiver Anthony Silar and junior wingback Baylon Foster, while freshman wingback Kaiden Sims and sophomore Dawson Peacock have also drawn praise from the staff.

"Dawson hasn't played much," added Barnett, "but he is taking snaps with the first team and hopefully he can handle it. The offensive line has a lot of seniors, but they were behind a lot of seniors last season and don't have a whole lot of experience. They will have to come together in a hurry."

Over on defense, sophomore Elijah Boykin will be looked upon to anchor the line, while senior Hunter Bedsole, senior Jarrison Kyles and sophomore Cameron Johnson will rotate in the middle. Freshman Braydyn Crumpler and Josiah Peterson are expected to get the early calls at defensive end, while at the linebacker spots the positions will be led by sophomore Bryant Crumpler, senior Kyle Gavette, junior Jared Petite and senior Blake Peterson, and in the secondary sophomore Micah Whitt-Murphy and senior Canon Richmond should help fill the bill at the corners, along with Foster and Silar.

"We are thin in older skill guys in the secondary," said Barnett, "and we will have to find some depth back there."
